New York's hose laterest in European affal, a has isolated her from the rest of the country, with the result that she is not awars of coudle tions confronting the government of the United States, declared Carl W. Ackermon, former was assessmentent, and now crop president of the

The chief development which Mr Angelinan assisted New Yorkers know little about is the formation of farm-labor argaelsations, newspape arenticates, never associations and candidates produced to Muscle Shouls, apent more money in the last po-litiest campaign than any other in-dividual in the sounts.

Labor erganizations, declared the speaker, exponded $109.000 in campaign expenses from the beginning of the american outli election day. The american Federalian of Lator The American Federalish of Labor since had 1,200 ordanizors in the field from Ortober 1, and 39 paid speakers, he sold. More money was spent by farm-labor organizations than by either the republican or democratic national committees, and more than the two major political parties combined, according to Mr. Adversan "I won't try now to prove the source of these contributions, but my statement will tributions, but my statement will be borne out by developments in the next few years.

"If the facts were known, we "If the facts were known, we would find that Mr. Ford had spent more money in the campaign than any one man in the United States. We would find that he, probably, had less to do, personally, with these farm and labor organizations than any other person, yet he was keenly interested, nevertheless.

more many in the campaign than any one man in the United States. We would find that he, probably, had loss to do, personally, with these farm and labor organizations than any other person, yet he was keenly interested, nevertheless.

"What do you suppose would have happened several years ago in this country if J. P. Morgan had proposed to congress that they turn over to him the great water-power site at Muscle Shoals for 100 years with the conditions asked by Mr.

Can you imagine what the American people and the farmers and inborers would have said? They would have charged it to be a very audacious move by the millionaire audacious move by the millionaire to loot the people. Yet Ford is able of hypnotize public opinion in favor of almost everything he proposes. This alliance between 1 ord, labor and agriculture is going to be more and agriculture is going to be more powerful in the next few years in chapting legislation in this country than any groups in the east.

Ford is the angel of these forces which we in New York lump together as 'discontent'—discontent with Wall street, discontent with railroads, discontent with federal legislation and discontent with government.

"We are facing another conflict between the radical west and the conservative east, with Ford tinanc-ing the western movement and the most able leaders of the farmers and labor combining to put the screws on New York. "If New York wishes to retain her leadership, we should not condemn every evidence of discontent in the west and shut our eyes to facts, but, through an understanding of the forces which are at work there, seek to formulate an American program upon which the east and west can units in dealing with the grave problems of European co-operation, medification of foreign debts, the development of agricultural industry. It is the task of New York to temper radicalism with reason and discontent with confidence in government.

"If congress grants Ford's offer for Muscle Shouls, Ford will be in a position to finance individually all of the radical legislative programs which may be formulated in the west and placed before congress. Whether Air Ford becomes a candidate for the presidency is a minor question, because be is today the most powerful figure in the west and the emistanding leader of the opposition to everything that New opposition to everything that New York stands for."
